

Abstract

A transfer molding apparatus, wherein said top-half mold and said bottom-half mold form a plurality of cavities interconnected, and wherein said pressure adjusting means reduces the pressure of the cavities every time a 5 specified amount of resin is supplied into any one of a plurality of cavities.